

Ashe County High School Media Specialist Tonya Denny Selected for Prestigious Education Policy Fellowship Program

Ashe County Schools, NC – Ashe County Schools is proud to announce that Tonya Denny, Media Specialist at Ashe County High School, has been selected to participate in the highly regarded Education Policy Fellowship Program (EPFP) hosted by the Public School Forum of North Carolina.

This esteemed program will provide Denny with unique opportunities to engage in discussions and work with top education leaders, further advancing her impact in the field of education.

In addition to this outstanding accomplishment, Denny continues to make significant contributions as a dedicated board member and Region 7 Director for the North Carolina School Library Media Association, where her leadership and advocacy for school libraries benefit students across the region.

Denny's unwavering commitment to education, leadership, and fostering a love of learning is a true inspiration to all. The Ashe County Schools community is excited to support her as she embarks on this incredible journey to create lasting positive change in education.

Learn more about the program and its participants at <https://tinyurl.com/2n3s9cuc>.

###