Blue Ridge Elementary Welcomes New Assistant Principal

WARRENSVILLE — Blue Ridge Elementary School will soon welcome Sarah Mossow to its administrative team. She will be transitioning from her role as an assistant principal at Ashe County High School to the assistant principal at BRES.

“We are excited to have Mrs. Mossow join the Blue Ridge family,” said BRES Principal Mitchell Reedy. “She will be a great asset to the school, bringing a background in elementary education and Leader in Me school experience.”

Mossow began her career in education as a teacher assistant, before working as a classroom teacher beginning in 2011. The elementary school where she was employed as a teacher was a Leader in Me school, like BRES. She furthered her education as a professional, through earning a masters degree in School Administration from North Carolina State University and participating in the NC Principal Fellows Program. She has worked for Ashe County Schools since July 2020.

“We are excited that Ms. Mossow is returning to her elementary roots,” said Superintendent Dr. Eisa Cox. “She will bring experience as a Principal Fellow in an elementary Leader in Me School and her experience as an elementary science teacher to Blue Ridge Elementary.”
